- All Species available in Horizontal. (On Demand)
- Edge bending tape available for all Species. (On Demand)

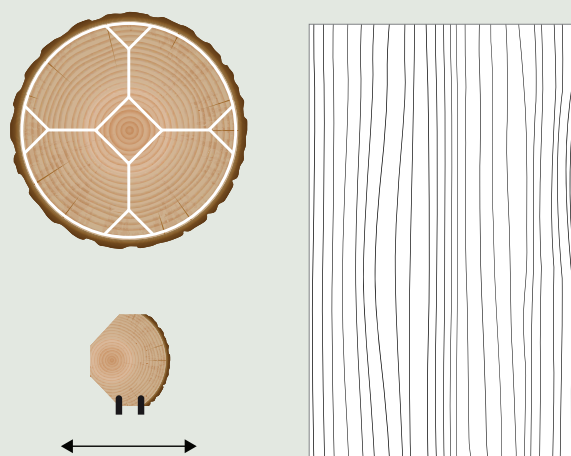

Crown Cut

The process of slicing the timber parallel to its growth rings is called a Crown Cut. This method produces irregular grain shapes on this veneer. This cut also helps the timber to retain its mother structure.

Quarter Cut

The process of slicing the veneer perpendicular to the growth rings of the tree is called a Quarter Cut. This method produces a straight grain or ribbon stripped appearance. Woods like Walnut, Oak, Mahogany and Teak are cut using this method.
